

Chief Strategy Execution Lead

Business Customers' (BC) Strategy Execution team is looking for an experienced Strategy Execution Lead to drive strategic priorities across our small and medium-sized enterprise (SME) banking business. You will help turn BC's strategic agenda into tangible results—from defining complex business challenges to leading cross-functional delivery. Working closely with senior leaders across Business Customers, you will combine strategic thinking with practical execution to shape how we serve business customers and develop our business.

What you will be doing

You will join a small, senior team focused on delivering Business Customers' strategic agenda within SME banking. The team operates with a high degree of autonomy, takes on complex and often ambiguous challenges, and works directly with leadership to define and deliver strategic priorities. You will collaborate with stakeholders across organisational boundaries, bring structure to unclear situations, and ensure that work translates into tangible results. The team values clear thinking, pragmatism, and a genuine curiosity for learning and new ways of working.

More specifically, you will:

- Structure and lead complex, cross-functional strategic initiatives from definition to delivery
- Build clarity and alignment across multiple workstreams and senior stakeholders
- Translate strategic questions into clear recommendations and actionable plans
- Monitor progress, manage dependencies, and maintain accountability across projects
- Apply analytical thinking and sound judgement to solve difficult, multi-dimensional problems
- Experiment with AI and emerging tools to improve ways of working and create value

About you

- Ability to structure ambiguous, complex problems and reach clear recommendations

- Strong analytical thinking and sound business judgement
- Experience leading large, cross-functional projects with multiple workstreams
- Experience in the financial services industry, ideally within corporate banking, with a strong understanding of business customers' needs and the commercial dynamics of banking.
- Skilled at building relationships and creating alignment across organisational boundaries
- Comfortable communicating clearly and credibly with senior stakeholders
- Adaptable and resilient when operating in changing or uncertain environments

If you have experience from strategy consulting, in-house strategy, or a similar senior execution role, that is a solid foundation. We also value a genuine curiosity for AI and an interest in how emerging technology can change the way we work.

What we offer you

You will work on some of the bank's most significant strategic priorities alongside a senior and experienced team. We offer a hybrid working model with three to four days per week in the office, giving you the balance of focused collaboration and flexibility. You will have real ownership and autonomy from day one, with strong opportunities to deepen your expertise and grow your career across Danske Bank.

Are you ready for the next step?
