

Platform Integration Specialist

About the job

We're looking for an analytical Platform Integration Specialist to join our Global Platform Configuration team at Saxo. The team is based in Copenhagen & Singapore and this role is based in our headquarters in Copenhagen.

As a Platform Integration Specialist, you will support the technical integration aspects of the onboarding process, working closely with the partner to build API connections. In this role, you will engage in the migration of our partners from SOAP to REST based APIs and from SAML to OIDC authentication protocol. You will participate in review, test, and deployment of new services, and manage ongoing maintenance. In this role, you will become the conduit between technical teams at the partner and Saxo, helping to translate business requirements into technical solutions.

Our main objective is to lead the Platform Configuration and IT Integration aspects of the onboarding of new Institutional clients, and support and maintain these elements with existing institutional clients. We manage the entire process as well as configure the trading platform, including feature deployment & branding elements. We lead and configure technical integration efforts (APIs & FTP connections) and project manage all other operations areas to deliver a holistic onboarding experience to the partner.

To succeed in this role, you will need to be resourceful, adaptable, analytical, and well organized. As well as someone who thrives in building rapport with internal and external stakeholders. We have a dynamic, very ambitious and, at the same time, informal and pleasant working environment.

Responsibilities

As a Platform Integration Specialist you will be responsible for:

- Facilitating the transition of the client from pre-sales to onboarding, working with pre-sales team to confirm the boundaries of the engagement
- Project management of the technical onboarding, representing not only our own platform branding elements but representing Operations Business Unit
- Managing new client technical IT integrations, this could be via API connections (REST and SOAP) or FTP protocols
- Transition from onboarding to hyper care, managing the handover process to other operations teams who will future service the client
- Additional tasks including document writing, development workshops/coordination, client visits, seminars, or training

Your profile

You're looking for a client facing position and have a service-based mindset. You are able to anticipate our partners' needs and suggest the most appropriate solutions from our technology stack. Furthermore you have several of the following:

- A BSc within Computer Science and Economics, BSc in Computer Engineering or similar is a must
- 2+ years of experience working with API (SOAP, REST) technologies including analysing and understanding server logs
- Experience working with C#, PHP and Java will be an advantage
- Knowledge or strong interest in investment banking especially in relation to capital markets and financial products (FX, CFDs, equities etc)
- Knowledge and experience in the FinTech is an advantage
- Knowledge of SAML message exchange and or OIDC authentication (certificate based) is considered advantageous but not essential
- Enthusiastic and driven individual who can demonstrate ownership and understand service culture for both internal and external clients
- A self-starter with the drive to form creative solutions and in equal measure be able perform in depth trouble shooting
- Analytical and strong problem solving skills
- Proven communication skills in English both written and spoken
